Unless one is wealthy there is no use in being a charming fellow. The poor should be practical and ordinary. It is better to have plenty of money than to be attractive. These are the great truths of modern life which Hughie Erskine never realized. Poor Hughie! In mind, we must admit he was not of much importance. He never said a clever an ill – natural thing in his life. But then he was wonderfully good looking, with his brown hair, his clear-cut face and his grey eyes. He was popular with men as he was with women and he had every quality except that of making money. He had tried everything. He had bought and sold shares for six months, but how could he succeed among experienced men? Then he had tried selling drink but that was of no use. At last he became nothing, a delightful, useless young man with a perfect face and no profession.

Questions:

- i) What is more important than being charming? 02
- ii) Hughie was not intelligent. What example does prove it? 02
- iii) “But then he was wonderfully good looking....” What is the significance of ‘but’ in this sentence? 02
- iv) Why did Hughie not succeed in any of the profession he took up? 02
- v) “At last he became nothing”. What is the meaning of ‘nothing’ in this sentence? 02

- vii) Contract

Q.5 A) Write an essay. (Any One) 08

- i) Dowry Deaths
- ii) Cybercrime
- iii) Child Labour

B) Translate the following passage into Marathi.07

We should always be honest in our dealings with other people because honesty is the surest way to success in Life. In taking up a dishonest cause, we may succeed for the time being, but shall be found out at last. A dishonest man may build upon great fortune through dishonesty and trickery, but he will never be happy. He will lose all in the long run. On the other hand, an honest man will enjoy the fruits of the labour. Though he may not be able to make money, he will be happy and peaceful in having a clear conscience.
